It was a 4 minute vibrant flashmob which had the participation of students from different disciplines like MSc Physics, BSc Physics, BA English, BSc Psychology etc.... After the flashmob, the students exhibited the name INTERNATIONAL YOUTH DAY in placards and it was the major attraction.

International Youth Day ,it is observed on 12th August to spread awareness about the youth and draws attention to the issues faced by the youth all across the world. significance, etc.According to the UN, the world's population is expected to increase by 2 billion people in the next 30 years. It has been recognised by various stakeholders that only producing a larger volume of healthier food will not ensure human and planetary wellbeing. Some other crucial challenges may also be addressed.

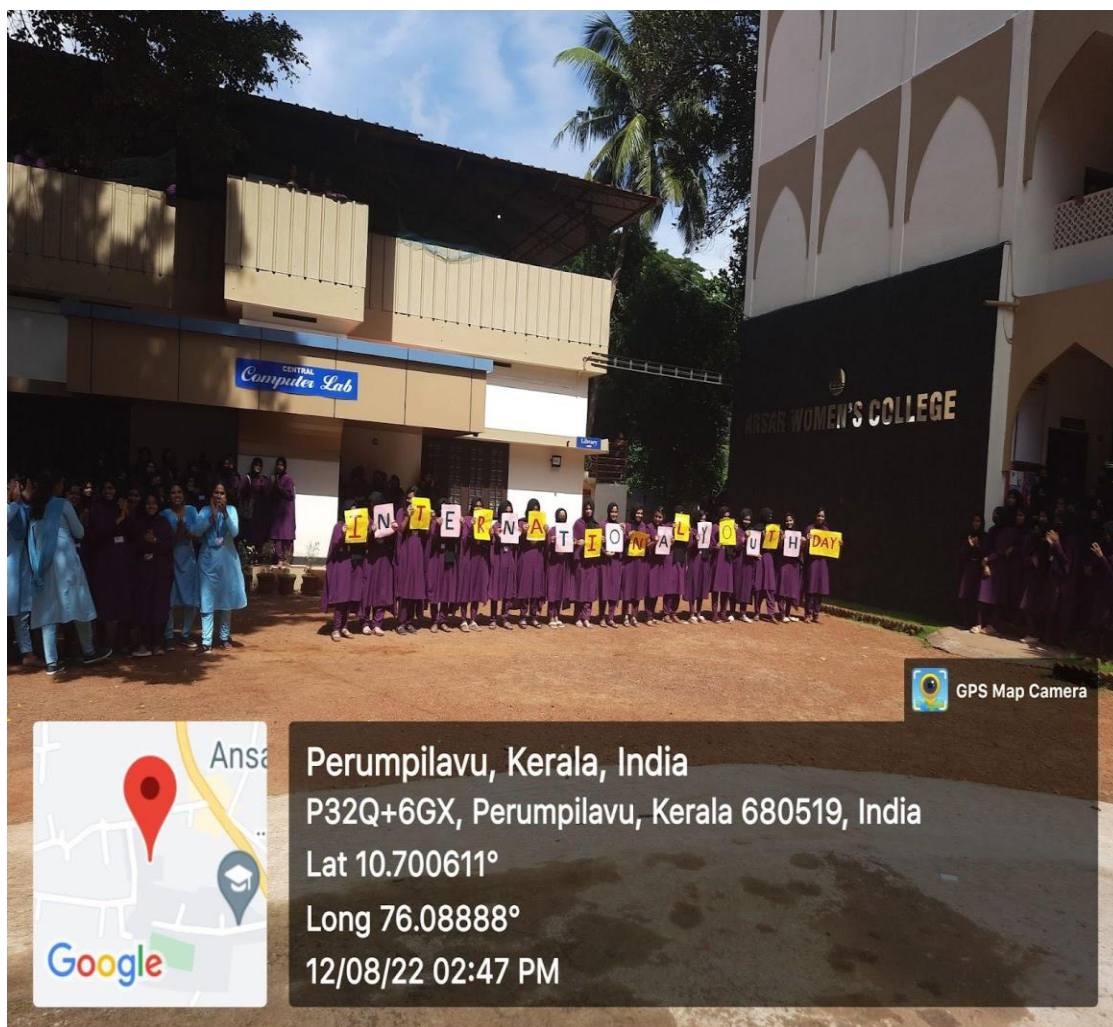

Also, there is a need for inclusive support mechanisms for youth so that they can amplify their efforts collectively and individually to restore the planet and protect life while integrating biodiversity in the transformation of food systems.

INAUGURATION

Dr. M.K. JAYARAJ
(Vice Chancellor, University of Calicut)

The main aim of this program was to foster an awareness regarding human rights and check around the violation of human rights on various humans on different bases.

The idea of performing tableau for this thematic performance came from our student's side itself and they themselves found a good theme for the tableau and the theme they found was the human rights violation on girls in various fields of our community. The very essence of this performance was that they were able to picturise many human rights violation situations in a single frame. The students also prepared a wonderful introduction to the audience and it was all read during the thematic performance and that was done by Jasmine Abraham from MSc Physics.

In a tableau, participants make still with their bodies to represent a scene. A tableau can be used to quickly establish a scene that involves a large number of characters. Because there is no movement, a tableau is easier to manage than a whole-group improvisation – yet can easily lead into extended drama activities. It can be used to explore a particular moment in a story or drama, or to replicate a photograph or artwork for deeper analysis.

They replicated scenes like human rights violation in in-laws home, schools, colleges, child labour, streets etc.. They produced proper accessories and stage settings to make the idea clear for audience.

Thus the program was a great success that made both participants and audience happy and they applauded the program. They all gave good feedback for the program and congratulated all the students who worked behind this performance.

This program enabled the audience to understand about various human rights violations from the very small cases to the serious cases and awarded them to work against these serious violations as it is harmful for the entire human community. It made the students work against these violations and also help those people affected by these crises.

They also made a strong decision in mind that they will not tolerate any issues around and raise voice against the violations.
