IPR CELL

ANNUAL REPORT

The IPR Cell of our college successfully organized "Commerce Confluence 2025" on 20th and 21st February 2025, focusing on the importance of Intellectual Property Rights (IPR) in the contemporary business and legal landscape. The event saw a total of 580 participants, including students and faculty members, who engaged in insightful discussions and workshops led by eminent resource persons. The experts included Jothilingam D, Assistant Professor at Rathinam College, Dr. Anson CJ, Assistant Professor & Advocate, and Mr. Ameen Hassan, Lead Attorney, who shared their expertise on various aspects of IPR such as copyrights, patents, trademarks, and legal enforcement. Their sessions aimed to bridge the gap between theoretical knowledge and practical applications, ensuring that participants gained a deeper understanding of IPR's role in commerce and innovation.

The two-day event was marked by interactive workshops, case studies, and a panel discussion, encouraging active participation and exchange of ideas among the attendees. The feedback from participants reflected high appreciation for the relevance and quality of content, with many expressing interest in exploring IPR careers. The IPR Cell plans to build on the success of this event by incorporating more practical sessions and follow-up workshops in future editions. We extend our gratitude to the resource persons, faculty, volunteers, and participants for their support, ensuring the event's success and fostering a culture of IPR awareness within the college community.

Over the two days, the event featured a range of workshops, presentations, and interactive sessions, where the experts addressed the practical application of IPR laws. The discussions provided valuable insights into how IPR is essential for protecting intellectual assets in today's digital and commercial environment. The participants also had the opportunity to engage in a panel discussion, which allowed for a deeper understanding of real-life case studies and challenges related to IPR violations and their legal implications.

The event concluded with positive feedback from the participants, who expressed appreciation for the depth of the sessions and the practical knowledge shared by the resource persons. Many students showed interest in pursuing further studies and careers in IPR-related fields. The IPR Cell is committed to continuing this initiative and plans to organize similar events in the future, focusing on more specialized aspects of IPR. We extend our sincere thanks to the resource persons, volunteers, faculty members, and participants for contributing to the success of this event and look forward to enhancing future IPR awareness programs.

An interactive panel discussion was also organized, allowing participants to ask questions and engage with the experts. The resource persons addressed real-life case studies, demonstrating how IPR laws are applied in different sectors, and provided solutions to common challenges faced by businesses and innovators in protecting their intellectual assets. The active involvement of the participants in these discussions highlighted the relevance of IPR education in today's knowledge-driven economy.

The event concluded with overwhelmingly positive feedback, with participants expressing high appreciation for the quality of the sessions and the expertise of the resource persons. Many students indicated an interest in pursuing careers related to IPR, particularly in legal or entrepreneurial fields. The IPR Cell plans to build on the success of Commerce Confluence 2023 by organizing future events that delve deeper into specific IPR topics. We extend our sincere gratitude to the resource persons, volunteers, and participants, whose collective efforts made this event a success, and we look forward to hosting more such initiatives in the coming years.
